

Malicious Damage Prompts Reward Offer

Malicious damage to property, particularly mail boxes, has prompted a local resident to offer a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons responsible.

The local resident, concerned about the continued wave of damaged mail boxes, outside lamp posts and fences, has advertised his offer of a reward in this week's TOWNSMAN. The reward donor has preferred to remain anonymous.

In line with the offering of the reward, is a letter appearing in today's Public Forum section of the TOWNSMAN, noting the continued damage to a mail box personally designed by him.

The author of the letter, who also requested anonymity, in an effort to protect the family from additional malicious property damage incidents, notes that the mail box he had personally constructed, has been damaged on more than one occasion, with the result he no longer can use it.

While the person offering the reward and the author of the letter are residents of two specific sections of the community, the problem is not confined to those areas.

Police have been receiving reports of such property damage from all sections of the community.

Two reports were received on Monday, one from a resident of River Road telling of about 100 feet of fence being torn down, and another report of a lamp post being knocked over.

The damage occurs during the late night hours, some residents having heard cars roar off after causing the damage.

The concentration of the mail box damage in the West Andover section of town caused the person to offer the reward, with the information, which will be held in confidence and turned over to the police, submitted to a private box number LR at the TOWNSMAN.

$2 Tax Rate Hike Viewed In $10.6M School Budget

Winter In The Park

The Park across from Memorial Auditorium at East Junior High school provides this pleasant winter scene captured by Rose Lewis as the late afternoon sun shadows branches and a snow-capped park bench.

On its first go-around Tuesday night, the Andover School Committee passed a preliminary budget of $10,684,820 that would, according to best predictions, represent a $2 increase on the tax rate.

That figure, which will be forwarded to the Town Manager, is a ceiling, however, and is likely to be trimmed in coming weeks before Town Meeting. It represents $2,184,820 in expenses and $8,500,000 in salaries.

While the vote on the expense portion was unanimous, Chairman George Olesen and Frank Griggs had favored an earlier move to limit salaries to $8,250,000.

It was concern for the impact the lower figure might have on current teacher contract negotiations that sent the committee into executive session, and led Olesen to dispel a lengthy presentation by the administration which had called for improved programs, more personnel and plant improvements.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert had tried a new approach with the budget this year, presenting to the committee what he had in mind for programs and facilities, rather than just presenting maximum figures they could pass on to the town.

Olesen, however, said he felt that "taking utopia and trimming it down really doesn't benefit anyone but those who gain on high blood pressure and hair raising experiences." He said voting the lower salary sum would save the administration a lot of effort and wheel spinning since "they would end up in the same place anyway."

"In the final analysis," he said, "fiscal considerations are the overriding considerations."

He noted that the committee's direction letter had told the town the schoolmen would try to keep their portion of the tax rate under $31, and that Griggs' salary figure already represented approximately $31.30.

Griggs had admitted that his figure was "tight," based on built-in step and track increases and the unsettled contract, but, he said, it forces a decision "of what do you really want."

"The question," Seifert asked, "is do you want to have a good school system or an adequate one?"

"We want the best one we can within fiscal limitations," Olesen responded.

Griggs was the lone vote against going into executive session and when the five returned to the public meeting at just about midnight, his salary figure was defeated by

Assistant Registrars Begin Listings

Assistant registrars of voters have begun the annual house-to-house visitation to compile the street listings.

Town Clerk Elden R. Salter asks that residents not confuse the registrars with other persons who may be seeking information for directories, or other purposes. The registrars have identification cards signed by the town clerk and the town manager and will present them upon request, Salter emphasized.

The information sought by the registrars is important not only to the compilation of the annual street listing, but is also used in gathering statistical data for presentation to the state and federal government for financial aid.

Information requested includes names and ages of registered voters in the household, number of children, type of schools attended by youngsters and grade.

The registrars will also be leaving a card with those who will be in a new voting precinct for the town election in March, indicating the new polling place where applicable.

Working on the street listing are: Barbara Itz, Patricia Newcomb, Louise Marshall, June O'Connor, Nancy Salter, May Norris, Sandra Ober, Irene Need, Mary Dusain, Mildred Davison, Deborah Brown, Joseph Wojtkun, Merwyn Darby and Kenneth Hilton.

Sgt. James R. Johnson, head of the Andover Civil Defense department was among the CD directors and police chiefs from 36 communities who received a Citizens Band radio base stations from the state last week.

Use of CB volunteers to act as "eyes and ears" for surveillance and crime reporting was conceived by Secretary of Public Safety Charles V. Barry and developed by Civil Defense Director Louis F. Saba.

Police chiefs will coordinate the program with citizen band teams and organized CB groups, in an effort to prevent crime or suspicious activities in their localities.

Funds for the purchase of the sets was provided by Gov. Dukakis who was on hand to present the base stations to the recipients.

Nomination Papers Are Available

Persons interested in seeking office at the annual town election in March may obtain nomination papers from the town clerk's office.

The ballot will contain selectmen and school committee races, a term for the moderator and a four year term on the Punchard Free School Trustees to fill a vacancy.

In the three year term for selectmen, both Milton Greenberg and Janet Lake have indicated they would seek re-election and Mrs. Lake has obtained her nomination papers. For school committee, there will also be two three year terms available, with Frank Griggs indicating he will not seek re-election and George F. Olesen, as yet not indicating his intentions.

The term for moderator is one year. The resignation of Malcolm Ruhl from the Punchard trustees necessitates the election for that post.

Deadline for filing nomination papers is Feb. 21 with 97 certified signatures of registered voters.

Selectmen Meet Monday

The selectmen will meet in regular session Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of Memorial Hall Library.

Among items scheduled for discussion will be the status of the Sacred Heart school property. Representatives of C Crowninshield Corp., who intend to convert the building to apartment units are expected to be on hand, along with representatives of town boards working on putting together the package for presentation to town meeting.

Award Winning Filmmaker Aiding Andover Schools

By Linda S. Corbett
Filmmaker David Allen Parry, winner of the Blue Ribbon Award at the American Film Festival in New York last summer, is "in residence" in Andover.

Parry began his six-month stay in Andover schools Monday, as part of a project of the Massachusetts Arts and Humanities Foundation.

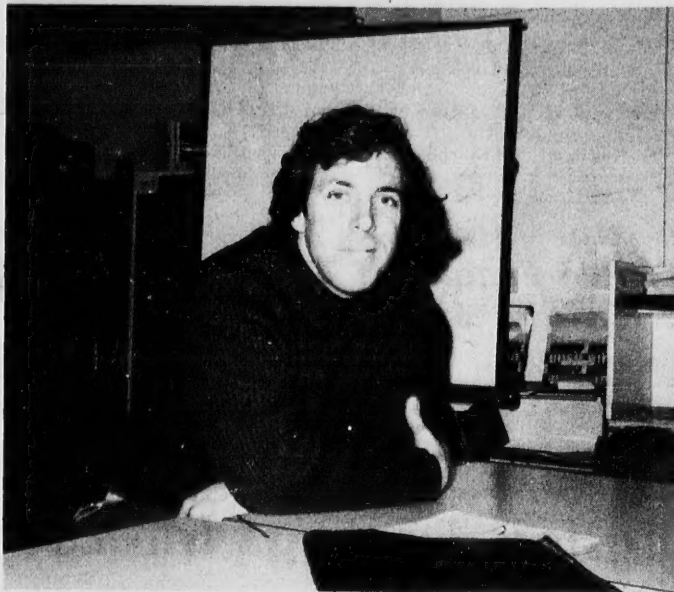

He will spend two days a week helping students understand the filmmaker's role as a communicator and teaching them to make their own films.

On Wednesdays he will offer in-service workshops for Andover teachers and will be available to Andover residents. His "base" will be the Doherty School Media Center.

Parry will be officially introduced to Andover teachers Tuesday, at a 3:15 to 4:30 p.m. reception in the Doherty Media Center, and to the community at a 7:30 to 9 p.m. reception Thursday, Jan. 13.

Newton-born, Parry specialized in photography and design at Boston State College for two years before receiving his bachelor of fine arts degree in film from Emerson College in 1973.

He is also an accomplished still photographer and in 1975 was arts and crafts supervisor and assistant coordinator for a Boston Community School Mobile Crafts Outlet Project, a pilot program involving six community schools.

He was recently featured guest speaker on Channel 56-TV's New England Newscene, discussing the filming of his Blue Ribbon film, "The Music Child."

This was the first film in which Parry had done everything - filming, directing, producing, editing. A "positive humanitarian film," it is a study of music therapy with autistic and emotionally disturbed children and shows various creative techniques for eliciting language and basic communication.

"The Music Child" also won a Bronze Award at the 1976 International Film and TV Festival, where Parry had won a Bronze Award in 1975 as producer of "Motives Moving Business," a study of a training seminar which explored the theories of achievement motivation developed by Harvard Psychologist David C. McClelland.

In Andover, Parry says he wants to broaden youngsters' understanding of film as a culture.

"It's just as much a culture," he says, "as painting and music."

He will teach some production, some theory and some analysis, and his classes will be shooting documentaries as well as drama and a documentary on Andover in conjunction with a historical club being formed at Andover High School.

Parry will also teach the journalist approach to filmmaking, including interviewing techniques and the like.

Parry was one of 12 chosen from among 120 applicants for five grants and two residencies in the program funded by the National Endowment for the Arts and the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities. Andover schools will be contributing $200 each toward his stay here.

Released Time Gets O.K.

The Andover School Committee Tuesday night gave the preliminary nod to "released time" for teachers.

The administration is to report back on Feb. 2 with more definite plans on how such out-of-class time would be used.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said released time here would not mean that all of the faculty would have time off at a given time or on a regular basis, as in some other systems.

He said released time would be used instead for planning meetings, for teachers of the same grade level, teachers of the same subject, and the like. At the most extreme, he said, all the teachers in one school would be off at once.

He said that pupils would actually stay in their schools by some sort of arrangement, so as not to create any transportation problems.

In other action Tuesday, Committeeman Frank Griggs moved to set a ratio of 40 teaching periods per 1,000 secondary school pupils in the academic areas of English, math, science, social studies and foreign language. In keeping with committee policy, the vote on the matter will be taken at the next meeting, Jan. 18.

Associate Supt. Harry Westcott had previously recommended a ratio of 40 teaching periods to 850 pupils, with no more than 25 youths per class.

Atty. Elias Sworn In On Council

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis Monday afternoon gave the oath of office to Clifford E. Elias of North Andover, an attorney and professor at Suffolk University Law School, as a member of the Judicial Council.

The Judicial Council conducts an ongoing study of the state judicial system and reports annually to the governor on its findings. The council also makes periodic suggestions to the various state courts on practice and procedure.

"It gives me a great deal of pleasure to announce the appointment of Professor Elias to the Judicial Council," said the governor. "He is uniquely qualified, both as a practicing attorney and law professor, to serve in this most important position, particularly at a time when our judicial system is coming under intense scrutiny as a result of the Cox Committee report."

Elias, 46, holds a B.A. degree in literature and social science from Yale University, and a law degree from Boston University School of Law.

In addition to being a professor at Suffolk Law School, he also was an associate dean at the school from July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975.

Elias served as clerk and assistant clerk of Lawrence District Court during the summers from 1960 to 1964. He was appointed a U.S. Commissioner in 1970 and served until the Federal Magistrate system went into effect.

He is general counsel and a trustee for The White Fund, Joseph G. Russell Trust and Artemas W. Stearns Trust, charitable and educational trusts in the Greater Lawrence area.

Girl Scout Courses Offered At College

The Merrimack River Girl Scout Council announces that registrations are now being accepted for the 1977 College of Girl Scouting. The council cordially extends an invitation to individuals or groups that may wish to attend this two day training program. The theme of the college is "Be Prepared: It's Your World" with an emphasis on the increasing influence of women in the community.

The courses primarily for Girl

Scout adults and senior girls are Brownie program workshop, Junior badge workshops, trips and Challenges for Cadettes, a service ideas exchange and a seminar on teenage sexuality for seniors, also roundtable discussions for Consultants, Organizers, Trainers and Neighborhood Chairmen.

Girl Scout courses that may also interest individuals and groups from other organizations are creative crafts, songs, game ideas for different age levels, folkdancing, dramatics, knots and lashing, exchanging outdoor cooking methods and recipes, and tips on primitive camping.

Kitty Dukakis Library Guest

THE TOWNSMAN, JANUARY 6, 1977

Kitty Dukakis, wife of Governor Michael S. Dukakis, will talk about some of her own interests - women's rights, public financing of the arts, dancing - next Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at Memorial Hall Library, Andover.

Mrs. Dukakis, who prefers "Kitty" to her given name, Katharine, does not fit the stereotype of a political wife. She has pursued her own career as a modern dance teacher at Lesley College and the Brookline Arts Center, and her own political interests, particularly equal rights for women and adequate public funding for the arts.

"It's vital for a woman to develop an identity of her own," she has said, "and fortunately Michael never wanted me to be a mere ornament or extension of himself."

In 1964, she encouraged her husband, then a freshman state representative from Brookline, to introduce legislation creating a Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities. Today the council distributes some $2 million a year to artists and cultural organizations.

She is also a former trustee of the Boston Children's Museum, the Brookline Arts Center and the Brookline Music School, and is honorary chairperson of the Greater Boston Youth Symphony.

An ex-officio member of the Commission on the Status of women, she claims that "a hundred years after passage of the Fourth Fourteenth Amendment and 50 years after women's suffrage, it is time to affirm in the Commonwealth's fundamental law the simple principle that men and women are entitled to equal treatment."

She is also a vocal advocate of universal day care and effective treatment for children with physical or mental disabilities. She has been honorary Mothers' March Chairwoman for the

Kitty Dukakis

March of Dimes for the past two years and is presently honorary chairperson of the Heart Fund, the UNICEF Committee of Greater Boston, the Cystic Fibrosis Drive and the March of Dimes.

The daughter of first violinist and Mrs. Harry Ellis Dickson (he's a first violinist with the Boston Symphony an associate conductor of the Boston Pops), Mrs. Dukakis and the governor live in Brookline with their three children. John, 18, is a freshman at Brown University. Daughters Andrea, 10, and Kara, 7, attend Brookline public schools.

Guidelines Adopted For Wetlands Act

All persons engaged in construction activities, or proposing any alterations to their land should be aware that these activities may be subject to the Wetlands Protection Act.

The Andover Conservation Commission, at a recent meeting, adopted by unanimous vote a set of guidelines to assist compliance with the provisions of Chapter 131, Section 40 (Wetlands Protection Act). This document is entitled "Instructions for Preparation of Notice of Intent" and may be obtained at the Conservation Office, Town Hall, first floor rear.

To summarize its contents, it defines what activities are subject to the law, namely any intention to "fill, dredge, or alter any bank, fresh water wetland, coastal wetland, beach dune flat, marsh, meadow or swamp bordering on the ocean or on any estuary, creek, river, stream, pond or lake, or any land under said waters". It also applies to any alteration within 100 feet of any such wetland as defined in the statute.

The "Instructions" give details as to length of time required for submission of plans before a public hearing is held, all the data and plans which must be included, and what must be done to obtain a Certificate of Compliance.

Before a new structure may be occupied, and before a good title can be established in case of transfer of property, this Certificate of Compliance is necessary. This is because the law requires that any "Order of Conditions" issued under the Wetlands Protection Act, regulating lands subject to the act, must be recorded at the Registry of Deeds, and then becomes part of the title record of such lands.

The Conservation Office is currently open from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The commission or its secretary will do its best to assist land owners in complying with the law. It will also investigate any advice or complaints regarding possible violations of the law.

The greatest tides in the world occur in the Bay of Fundy, which separates Nova Scotia from Maine. Tide change may rise or drop over 53 feet.

Tips Now Part Of Salary

A recent revision in the Massachusetts Employment Security Law will benefit workers for whom cash tips are a source of income.

Beginning on January 1, 1977, cash tips of $20 or over a month may be considered as wages for the purpose of computing unemployment insurance (UI) benefits, according to John D. Crosier, Director of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security (DES).

State legislation signed into law in October by Governor Michael S. Dukakis will require that the amount of tips received must have been declared as income by the employee in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Internal Revenue Code.

Also, the amount of tips must be reported by the employer and, in addition, must be counted as wages for the purpose of paying unemployment insurance taxes. Previously cash tips, in most cases, were not considered as wages under the Massachusetts Employment Security Law.

We wish to thank all our clients and our fellow Realtors whose cooperation contributed to our banner year.

We anticipate a strong housing market in 1977. We also look for increased interest in investment real estate as a result of the enactment of the new federal income tax law.

Beautifying The Station

Andover's railroad station, where the commuter train to Boston stops no longer, can be a dreary looking sight, until a snowfall gives substantial improvement to the scenery.

Oops!

Skis have a way of moving a little faster than the operator at times. As Jonathan Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson, Dascomb Road found out recently at Andover Recreation Park.

Permanent Substitutes Appointed

Four permanent substitute positions - two math-science teachers, an arts and a crafts teacher for East Jr. High School and a business education teacher for the high school - were approved by the school committee Tuesday night for the second half of the current school year.

In other personnel action, the committee tabled the request of Susan Ellen Robinson for a maternity leave of absence beginning in February. She would have been eligible for tenure in the fall, and her request brought up a legal question as to her future eligibility.

At their last December meeting, the committee approved a year's leave of absence for Marilyn Heuman, third grade teacher at South School, elected Kathleen Scanlon to teach high school English, and appointed Elia Lamagna, health instructional aide and Linda Aronson, high school newspaper advisor.

The committee also appointed Thomas Sutton, Jr., head varsity ski coach at $600 and Karl Lippmann, assistant ski coach, $300.

To Conduct Programs

The New England Human Resource Center will be conducting a series of groups throughout the month of January on Saturdays for the entire day. Some of the groups will be: Introduction to Psychodrama on Jan. 8 which will teach participants the techniques of role playing, role reversal, mirroring, coupling and methods of group sculpture. Another group will be the Introduction to Gestalt.

Along with all day groups Saturday, the center will operate a free drop in clinic on Tuesdays and Thursdays for the purpose of providing counseling. This will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

many years. However, if you demand statistical proof — such as, there are six robins this year where in previous years there was either one or zero — you must look elsewhere. If I had been any good at numbers, I could have made a career back home as a grocer's clerk and have been spared the peregrinations that were my lot.

Let us just report that Richard Forster, who does the Massachusetts bird atlas project, has been besieged daily by citizens asking whether they just have seen the last robin flock of summer or the the first of the coming spring. Since most of these persons had no idea that robins remain in New England in some numbers, it seems obvious that there are more present than usual.

In areas that I visit daily there have been four or five robins through November and December in locations where normally there are none.

The abundance of robins this winter provides considerable proof that robins are not driven from the region by cold but by a shortage of food.

The robins have endured a colder than usual November and temperatures that twice dipped either near or below zero in December. The weather, however, has been rather dry, with less than normal snow. Probably the reasons robins have been abundant are the bumper crops of wild fruit, rose hips and crab apples, and the lack of snow cover which made access to fallen fruit easy.

Most persons think of robins as consumers of earthworms. They do, indeed, eat worms and insects in summer. But when the ground becomes frozen, robins can thrive on fruit. The widespread planting of ornamental crab apple trees by developers who use them for landscaping new houses probably has aided both robins and mockingbirds, which also hang around in fair numbers. The type of crab apple tree that clings to its fruit is particularly valuable when snow falls.

Perhaps the Christmas Bird Count will give some information on how widespread the wintering of robins has been in New England and the Maritimes this winter.

When conditions are right, robins remain through most of the winter in such normally hostile climates as Newfoundland's. In those seasons they can be found after New Year's in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick as well as in southern New England.

There always has been a debate over the origin of robins that winter in New England. The prevailing opinion assigns most New England winter visitors to the Newfoundland and northern populations of robins. Some people can see exceptionally dark backs on birds from those areas and call them black-backed robins. But many of the birds I see look familiar, as though they were sitting in the same crab apple tree last May.

Cutting Corners On Food Budget

Christmas and home heating bills can put a dent in your January finances, but there are ways to cut corners on your food budget.

Since about one third of our food dollar goes for meat, poultry and fish items, begin by scrutinizing these purchases, suggests the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

Become familiar with the many cuts of meat on the market, but keep in mind that the economy of a cut depends on the number of servings of cooked meat it provides, not just its price per pound.

Learn to cook some of the cuts of meat that are less tender but less expensive. For example, a hearty beef chuck stew or pot roast cooked with carrots, onions and potatoes is an appealing wintertime main dish.

Another idea is to tenderize chuck cuts with stewed tomatoes for a tasty Swiss steak.

Ground beef is one of the best buys on the market and for a change from the usual hamburger, remember meatloaf, Italian or Swedish style meatballs, Hungarian goulash, stuffed cabbage, lasagna, ravioli, spaghetti with meat sauce, stuffed eggplant or moussaka.

Beef liver is also an excellent value at current prices, and while it's not universally popular, sauteed liver smothered in onions is a favorite with many New Englanders.

Poultry at current price levels is also one of the least costly "main dish foods." Large size turkeys are a good value, and while whole chicken is usually a better buy than chicken pieces such as breasts and legs, do take advantage of advertised special prices.

In fresh fish, the more economical choices are pollock, cod, cusk, ocean perch and whiting, while frozen fish sticks, fillets, squid, canned tuna and sardines are also good values.

In place of meats, fish and poultry, economical alternates such as eggs, dry beans, dry peas, peanut butter and cheeses can also be used on occasion. More about these "protein alternates" next week.

Lowell

Cotton Was King, a new history of Lowell, has just been published. The book, in the planning and writing stage since 1972, is a collaborative publishing effort of the Lowell Historical Society and the New Hampshire Publishing Company, Somersworth, N.H.

The history, which spans the period from the earliest settlement by the Indians to the present day, has been written in chapters. The text is carefully researched and is unusual in that it brings together original writings of a group of scholars and historians from the Lowell area. The authors are members of the faculty of the University of Lowell and of the Lowell Historical Society with a longstanding interest in the city's history.

Cotton Was King is timely and an original historical work on this northern Massachusetts manufacturing community to focus that national school and researchers are placing the city as the birthplace of the Industrial Revolution.

Lowell History Published

Cotton Was King, a new history of Lowell, has just been published. The book, in the planning and writing stage since 1972, is a collaborative publishing effort of the Lowell Historical Society and the New Hampshire Publishing Company, Somersworth, N.H.

The history, which spans the period from the earliest settlement by the Indians to the present day, has been written in 14 chapters. The text is carefully researched and is unusual in that it brings together original writings of a group of scholars and historians from the Lowell area. The authors are members of the faculty of the University of Lowell and of the Lowell Historical Society with a long standing interest in the city's history.

Cotton Was King is timely as an original historical work on this northern Massachusetts manufacturing community due to focus that national scholars and researchers are placing on the city as the birthplace of the Industrial Revolution in America.

More than any other American city, Lowell was forced to deal with a society in the grip of a massive change. The history of Lowell is a case study in the progress of the Industrial Revolution in America, and of the evolution of the corporate system, the labor movement, and the role women played in the labor force, explains Arthur L. Eno, Jr. who wrote a chapter for the book and also served as editor-in-chief.

The cotton mills of Lowell provided the first opportunity for American women to leave their farms and families and earn an independent living. The city with its enormous factories and canals also served as a magnet for the first waves of immigrants. By the mid-nineteenth century, the city felt the first stirrings of both the labor and feminist movements, as Lowell entrepreneurs expanded the factory system.

Cotton Was King traces the city's history from its pre-Revolutionary beginnings but primarily explores the social, ethnic, and cultural realities that loomed so large in nineteenth century America.

The book is illustrated with over 40 scenes of mill life, political cartoons of the period, maps, portraits of early industrialists, and other significant residents. These were gathered from private collections, museums, and libraries and comprise one of the most varied and informative sets of illustrations to accompany any recent writing about Lowell.

Authors whose original writing appears in Cotton Was King are Mary H. Blewett, Professor of History; Peter F. Blewett, Associate Professor of History; F. Frederic Burt, past president of the Lowell Historical Society and also a professor at the University of Lowell.

Other contributors include Charles F. Carroll, Professor of History and author of "The Timber Economy of Puritan New England"; Harry C. Dinmore, a past president of the Lowell Historical Society; Robert Dugan, reference librarian at the Beverly Public Library; Arthur L. Eno, Jr., a practicing lawyer and former president of the Lowell Historical Society; John A. Goodwin, professor at the University of Lowell and president of the Lowell Museum Corporation; Joseph W. Lipchitz, Professor of History and Political Science at the University of Lowell; and Nancy Zaroulis, a writer and book editor. Cotton Was King is fully indexed. It has an extremely valuable appendix and bibliography

Birthday For The YMCA

The 125th Birthday of the YMCA in the United States was celebrated recently with a special commemorative service at the Old South Meeting House in Boston. It was on that date and site in 1851 that the first YMCA in the United States was organized, having been brought here from London by a retired sea captain, Thomas V. Sullivan. The first YMCA had been organized in London in 1844 and the organization spread around the world.

In this country Associations sprang up everywhere and soon the YMCA began the innovations of program which have made its reputation from its early days. Quickly it moved into leadership in the fields of Physical and Health Education and Youth Program work. The first gymnasiums, pools, and summer camps were in YMCA's. Before the turn of the century the YMCA had invented the popular games of basketball and volleyball, started work with the Armed Services including programs for Prisoners of War, also college student YMCA's and Associations for negroes, for American Indians and for railroad workers.

Evening study courses for adults developed into full fledged schools, some of the better known including: Huntington Prep, Springfield College, and Northeastern University. Keeping pace with the times YMCA's moved into physical fitness training, aquatics and water safety, family programming, group work and counseling. The YMCA also was the early experimenter with capital fund campaigns and is considered to have played a major role in helping in the early development of Community Chests, Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls; it also was the initiator of the water safety services of the American Red Cross.

Today the YMCA is by far the largest organization of its kind in the world, operating in some 83 countries. In the United States there are 8,806,000 registered constituents in 1,834 private, non-profit associations, each autonomous and responsible for its own finances and development of a program of its own choosing for members of its own selection.

On the local scene an Arlington YMCA was organized as early as 1876, the name being changed to Lawrence YMCA in 1879 with the corporation following in 1880. The present Lawrence YMCA building was constructed in 1911 and services to the Greater Lawrence community expanded steadily. The National YMCA yearbook indicated 13,097 members were served by the Greater Lawrence YMCA in the past year, including those who are members at the Lawrence building at 40 Lawrence St. and those served at the Andover-North Andover YMCA, a Branch Association begun some ten years ago.

The Lawrence YMCA operates as an urban Association primarily serving men and boys. It features an extensive physical department, a youth department, a large dormitory for men, the Hamblet Health Club for men, and a Camping Services division which operates several resident, day, and travel summer camps.

The Andover - North Andover YMCA provides services at a two year old facility at 165 Haverhill St., Andover, at satellite buildings at 10 Brook St., Andover and 33 Johnson St., North Andover, at Phillips Academy and at other locations. Primarily a family serving Association, the Branch opens membership to individuals three years of age and over and provides a notable array of program services.

Thoughts As A New Year Begins

January and a new year generally bring about a moment to examine whatever issues remain from the year ended and what may lie ahead.

In Andover, one can generally find a problem or two remaining to be solved as each year passes, among which this year is the post office site and the disposition of the Sacred Heart property.

There are other matters on the 1977 agenda which allows commentary as follows:

Post Office: Quite possibly 1977 may see some solution to the postal service desire to locate a processing plant in Andover on a site that meets their demands and the town's wishes.

At present bringing needs and desires together is a most difficult task.

A year ago this week, local officials proposed to the postal service the use of Shawsheen plaza property, formerly occupied by W. T. Grant as a possible location for its new facility.

But that was rejected along with all other intown locations proposed by local administrators, the postal service finding them not feasible for their proposed operation.

Post office administrators still favor the Andover street location for its operation, the one owned by Sidney P. White which was dropped due to opposition from townspeople who offered no substantial alternative.

Selectmen continue to insist on a downtown postal location, preferably the present building. Lately the board has been asking postal authorities for time to come up with an intown location and have turned the matter over to the Industrial Development Commission for possible solution.

As matters stand with a new year beginning, the solution to the postal site, matter appears no nearer solution than it did a year ago.

The ultimate result could be the postal service moving their processing plant to another community and that's not the happiest thought in the world either.

As for the Sacred Heart school matter, that would appear moving along a smooth course toward town meeting in which a real estate developer and the town will both benefit. The building will be converted to apartments, and be tax productive to the town, and the land within the total parcel may be obtained by the town for recreation and conservation use.

No School Construction: Happy news comes for the school department, where, at a recent meeting of the school committee, it was decided that with declining enrollments, the school population can be contained within the present structures.

There may be some alterations necessary to some buildings to accommodate the shifting enrollment, but basically the town should wind up in a much more economic status for possibly the next decade, relieved of school construction costs.

There could be some major repair items, once the new plant engineer completes his survey of the present school buildings. His job was to examine all structures with an eye toward upgrading where necessary and preserving the present school plant.

Ballardvale Study: A new committee is on the scene and working on finding some solution to the problem of the Ballardvale Community building.

The building has served a useful purpose in the past as a community center for resident of the Vale. Newer buildings, such as the South school and the Ballard Vale United church, have provided space for the activities once carried out at the community center.

The community center building is in need of considerable repair, and the study committee recently appointed, is to review the building structurally as well as looking at as meeting a municipal need.

Couched in the thinking must be the tradition which the building represents as historic part of a section of Andover.

Shawsheen residents were successful in retaining their village status when disposal of the Sacred Heart property became an issue.

We anticipate that the residents of the Vale will likewise be heard on the matter of the community building in the current year.

A number of the members of the Andover Country club Boxford Wednesday night joy a turkey dinner at a house situated on the shore pond.

Frank E. Gleason has a new gas engine of 10 power at his wood shed street. This, in addition to sawing and splitting makes his wood yard date as any in the section. Gleason intends to build a shed in the future.

John Buchan of Andover won second prize for the White Plymouth F. and first in the white class; George W. B. first for his Indian Run at the bird show conducted at the Methuen Grange in town hall this week.

Rifle Association Keeps Winning Against Gun Control Legislation

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON - For years the National Rifle Association has effectively blocked gun controls. Armed hoodlums, meanwhile, are terrorizing our streets. On an average day, 30 Americans die by the gun.

Nevertheless, the National Rifle Association is raising millions to defeat gun controls next year. As an indication of their success, the latest available figures show that the the association raised more than $5 million last year for political purposes.

The association's lobbyists have admitted that some of the money was used to wine and dine their friends on Capitol Hill. Free memberships in the National Rifle Association were also offered to members of Congress. Eleven senators and 24 representatives belong to the Rifle Association.

The association even set up a special unit to handle politics, called the Institute for Legislative Action.

A secret study of the National Rifle Association describes the kind of men who run it. The study was written, ironically, by the Remington Arms Company.

The study charges that the National Rifle Association's die-hard supporters live "in a make-believe world of sacred rights, ancient skills and coonskins ..."

The study compares them to "the inhabitants of Hitler's bunker in 1945 (who) talk only to themselves, reinforcing their own views."

China Lobby: The newspapers have been full of stories lately about the Korean lobby. But few lobbies have exerted such relentless pressure on American foreign and domestic policy as the China lobby has.

It consists of a hard core of hired lobbyists, influential friends and outspoken advocates of the Chinese Nationalists in Taiwan. The China lobby reached the peak of its power in the 1950s.

In those days, the lobby was manipulated by five shrewd Chinese emissaries who formed a sort of Politburo inside the Chinese embassy. They reported directly to the late Chiang Kai-shek. They used the joint code signature, "Kung," meaning "Group."

The hidden aims of this group were revealed in a collection of secret cables that fell into American hands through a Chinese code clerk. One cable reported the likelihood that Soviet-American relations would not deteriorate.

Then an ominous sentence appeared in the message: "Our hope of a world war so as to rehabilitate our country is unpalatable to the American people." Of course, the implication was that the Nationalists hoped to embroil the United States in a third World War.

The cables contained other hints that they hoped to ride back to power in the rumble seat of an American victory. There was also evidence that they passed out cash -- Korean-style. Or it might be more accurate to say that the Koreans passed out cash -- Chinese-style. For the Chinese Nationalists helped to instruct South Korea's KCIA.

The China lobby, meanwhile, has kept a low profile. As long as Chiang Kai-shek was alive, its goals were never lowered. Chiang continued to prepare for an invasion of the Chinese mainland until the day he died. And he never gave up hope that the United States would pave the way for him.

Today, the China lobby still operates quietly in Washington, but it has more modest, realistic goals.

Looking Back: The first week of the New Year is a time for review. We are looking back, therefore, at the top events of last year.

— The Personality of the Year, of course, has to be Jimmy Carter. He came out of political obscurity and rose to the pinnacle. Americans were captivated by his easiness of manner, his engaging sincerity, the way his personality smiles every time he breaks into a grin. Yet there is a hardness beneath the surface amiability. Few people seem to know the man behind the smile.

At this crossroads in time, Jimmy Carter remains a political sphinx.

— The Revolution of the Year occurred in faraway Africa. Two years ago, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger offered lip service to black Africa, but secretly tilted toward the white regimes. In 1976, the Portuguese withdrew from Angola and the white regime in Rhodesia began to teeter. Cracks even appeared in the South African government. Kissinger hastily reversed his policy. Hopefully, it wasn't too late.

— The Rip-Off of the Year, of course, was the oil gouge. Oil that is produced for 12 cents a barrel in the Middle East is being sold for $12 a barrel on the world market. Yet the oil potentates weren't satisfied; they raised prices another 10 per cent. Naturally, the oil and gas companies are taking their cut. We warned earlier that they would try to triple natural gas prices. They did. The oil squeeze, more than any other factor, is responsible for orbiting prices.

— The Mystery of Year was solved. We spent several months trying to determine whether the phantom billionaire, Howard Hughes, was still alive. When Hughes arrived in Houston from Mexico as a shriveled, dehydrated corpse, we called Secretary of the Treasury William Simon and urged him to identify the corpse. He sent agents at once to the mortuary. Fingerprints were taken. They were the fingerprints of Howard Hughes.

— The Scandal of the Year came out of the files of the FBI and CIA. There was ugly evidence that both agencies had violated the laws they were supposed to uphold.

— The Sensation of the Year was the sex-in-Congress story.

The Public Forum

On The Manager

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

In re: the December 16, 1976 issue of The Townsman announcing that the Town Manager, Maynard Austin, "Won't Be Re-Elected" next August, or that his term of office will be allowed to expire.

The best reason I know for writing a letter is when not to do so is totally untenable. I can restrain myself no longer and offer this totally unsolicited statement.

Surely the Board of Selectmen by its action or inaction has the right to make whatever decision it will in such a matter directly or indirectly. In the midst of what I know can be complicated matters involving personalities, "principalities and powers" I venture to be simplistic and speak out in behalf of a wonderful human being, our Town Manager, Maynard Austin. I have experienced him in too many positive ways to remain silent.

As pastor to his fine family, I have known him not only as a parishioner, but as a friend. He has accepted positions of responsibility and leadership in the life of South Church, and performed them with faithfulness and dispatch. He has been a real blessing to his church and surely no less to this town and its affairs.

When one is privileged as I am, and as we have been, to know good, if not great, leadership we should say so. Our Town Manager is a genuine and good person of high standards and professional excellence. What more do we want? The question then becomes, not does he deserve re-appointment to the office, but do we deserve to have him stay?

I just had to say this and I hope I have not embarrassed him. I do hope, instead, that we as citizens will feel an anxiety to examine ourselves and our role in supporting, or failing to support, quality leadership when we have it.

that would produce unpleasant results. My children, I fear, would be the object of retaliation and ridicule on the bus, in the school corridors, etc. and I am not willing to make them pay for someone else's misbehavior. Furthermore I will not involve the police in the matter. At the same time I am no longer willing to remain silent.

While we parents are rushing around in the next few weeks buying all kinds of gifts for our kids I hope we will take some time out to think about the real gifts, and make a commitment give them the gift of training for

Loss Of A Great Friend

The sports world in general... and Andover High athletics in particular... lost a great friend when Al Lord passed away recently.

It was sadly ironic that Al died so close to Christmastime, because both he and that holiday are symbolic of the true meaning of the word "giving."

Al Lord gave much of himself, his time and his energy, to helping local kids and coaches.

It was a reciprocal thing, because watching youngsters involved in athletics was Al's favorite hobby. Without even knowing it, the kids were returning Al's kindnesses just by being there.

A heavy equipment operator by trade, Al was best known for his movie taking, both around the Merrimack Valley and at Boston Garden. He made hundreds of friends including Red Auerbach, Tom Heinsohn, Jim Loscutt... and practically every other Celtics' player or area coach that's been around over the past few decades.

Son Gary had long since been through the AHS sports scene, but Al was never too busy to film a local sports event. Somehow he always worked that into his schedule.

More than once Al carted his camera and other paraphernalia to the East Junior High Playstead Field, set it up in precarious position on the top row of bleachers, and stood filming a 12-0 runaway or 1-0 Babe Ruth baseball game for hours... or until the film ran out.

When the Andover High football team won its first Super Bowl thriller against Salem, 21-20 in overtime, Al was more than happy to spend countless hours coordinating his movies with Bill Callagy's narration for a memorable souvenir of that game... a film complete with sound which several of the players and their parents now have.

Many people remember Al standing atop the rickety Dracut High School "pressbox," on the roof, shivering in the November cold and battling a brisk wind that swayed the tiny building, to film the Andover High football game several years ago.

Al would show any of his films at the drop of a hat, before the request had been fully spoken.

He served as president of the Andover Church Basketball League a number of years... and perhaps an inherent shyness was revealed when he asked someone else to MC the annual post-season awards banquet.

Friendly in a non-pushy way, Al would often attend a local sports event (without taking movies), slip into conversation with a nearby fan, and talk with pride about the prowess of certain Andover athletes... or about any of the professional teams... until a total stranger felt like a lifelong acquaintance.

Al remembered most of the good and bad teams at Andover through the years, and he enjoyed talking about them in his unmistakable voice.

Perhaps what sums up Al's character or "philosophy" is something he said at Boston Garden several years ago.

It was early March, schoolboy tournament time, and there were about five hours of either basketball or hockey scheduled that day. Andover was playing an early game, but Al was planning to stay for everything.

It had been snowing that day... quite hard... and later the temperature fell below 10 degrees. It wasn't pleasant, to say the least, and the attendance was sparse.

"Al, what in the world are you doing here on a day like this?" He looked at the speaker incredulously.

"You gotta be joking," he grinned. "I'm here for the kids... to watch them play. I do it all because I like the kids." It's been a tragic three months for Andover High sports. First Peter... now Al. Rest in peace, Al. The kids liked you, too.

Buddy Werner Ski League

The Andover Buddy Werner Ski League will open its 1976-77 racing season on Sunday Jan. 9 at the Bradford Ski Area. Andover will compete against a strong Bradford team who last year won the Eastern Massachusetts championship.

All racers should be at the hill as early as possible so that they may properly study the course, register, and pick up their bibs. The race is expected to begin promptly at 9 a.m. Each racer will run through the course twice and those seven and under will receive a practice run. Ribbons will be awarded to the top five racers in each age group. Any interested boys and girls and parents are invited to come watch the race.

The first snow practice was held last night and the next is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 12. Practices are being held at the Bradford Ski Area from 6-7:30 p.m. They will cover racing techniques for both the new and advanced racer. They will be conducted by coach Ted Sutton and his coaching staff. These practices have greatly contributed to the boys and girls both as racers and as skiers. A brief meeting will be held after the practice for announcements, a review of courses, and the racers technique.

Faceoff time at the Volpe Complex is 6 p.m.

Andover Coach Dick Neal has extended an invitation to all former Bantam players and their families (parents, wives, etc.) to attend the contest and renew acquaintances.

Past players wishing to know more about the reunion night may contact Neal or assistant coaches Paul McNamara and Steve Weiner.

Horseshoe crabs live along the East and Gulf coasts one to two miles off-shore at a depth of 40 to 50 feet. Each year they come to the tidal wetlands to lay eggs, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Church League

Three Teams Still Undefeated

By Rick Harrison

Three teams remained undefeated, a fourth stayed right on their heels, and South-Baptist cracked the victory column, highlighting Intermediate Division action in the Andover Church Basketball League last Monday night.

St. Augustine A continued one-half game ahead of the pack 4-0 by peppering St. Robert's D, 44-14, at East Junior High.

St. Augustine B 3-0 needed a fourth quarter surge to overcome
St. Robert's C, 32-18, at West Elementary.

St. Augustine D 3-0 tripped St.
Robert's B, 28-18, at West.

St. Robert's A 3-1 kept within striking distance of the leaders, unleashing the heavy artillery in a 65-6 romp over Christ Church at EJHS.

South-Baptist 1-2 plugged away for a 13-10 conquest of Ballard Vale United at West.

South-Baptist 13-10

Steve Todd's bucket gave Ballard Vale United a 2-0 first quarter edge, and BU maintained a 6-4 advantage at halftime.

Darren Lowe and Art Dunlavy tossed in third period baskets as South-Baptist rebounded for an 8-6 lead. Danny Kimball and Dave Lowe did all the fourth quarter scoring to keep S-B in clover.

Art Dunlavy and Darren Lowe finished with 4 points apiece, Dan Kimball swished 3 and Dave Lowe had two for South-Baptist.
Robbie Robinson and Steve Todd shared game high honors for BU with 4 each, and Rodney Hollenbeck stuffed a second period basket.

Other United standouts were Chuck Burnett and Steve Eldred.

St. Augustine D 28-18

The 1-2 punch of Steve Green and Dave Fluet kept St.

netted 11 points apiece to guide

Soccer Program Meeting

There will be a brief meeting for those who wish to participate in forming a soccer program for Andover's Youth, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 11, at 7 p.m., West Junior High School, Room A, next to the gymnasium. Much help will be needed to get this program established. If interest warrants there will be equal offerings for both girls and boys.

St. Robert's 11-2 for a 17-6 bulge at intermission.

Pat Beaudine chipped in 4 markers and Pedro Gleason had a fourth quarter fieldgoal for St.
Augustine D.

Ted Sirois and Tony Holbrook played well defensively.

Neil Saunders powered the St.
Robert's B attack, sharing game high laurels with 11 points.

Bill Saunders contributed 3 second half markers, while solo buckets were stuffed by Jerry Ahearn and Tim McLean.

Tom O'Brien was a defensive star for St. Robert's, which again played minus the services of high-scoring Don Lindsey.

St. Robert's A 65-6

St. Robert's A raced to a 22-0 first period spread and never looked back, overpowering Christ Church 65-6.

Phil Farr and Bob Leitch, who have now combined for 112 of St.
Robert's 165 points, poured through 24 and 18 points respectively. Leitch had 12 in the first period, Farr added 10 in the third stanza.

Ken Saliba made it three players in double figures with 10, while Barry Lemieux scored 5 points, Kevin Byrne 4, Kevin Salava 2 and Pete Byrne 2 points.
Dave Reed contributed a fine floor game.

C-C, which produced all its scoring in the second quarter, received single fieldgoals from John Rogers, Todd Durant and Randy Jones.

St. Augustine A 44-14

Ted Kelley hooped 14 points in the first period, scored 26 over the opening three quarters, and ignited St. Augustine A to its 44-14 triumph against St. Robert's D.

Tim Corkery swished 8 points,
Tom Galvin had 6 in the fourth period, lefty Dick Kelley notched

a bucket, and Mark Connolly dunked a second quarter basket for the divisional leaders.

Bobby French burned the strings for 10 points to guide St.
Robert's. Third period baskets were delivered by Dave Spychalski and Todd Sleath.

St. Augustine A built a 28-2 halftime edge before trading buckets with St. Robert's D in the second half.

St. Augustine B 32-18

St. Augustine B received its biggest scare of the season from St. Robert's C, trailing 18-17 after three periods before erupting for a game-winning 15-0 run in the final quarter.

St. Augustine was clinging to a 17-14 halftime edge, but two baskets by Mike Damphousse and tough shutout defense enabled St. Robert's to inch in front in the third stanza.

However, Mark Paradis tossed in 6 points and John Ingemi 5 to propel the comeback, as St.
Augustine produced some shutout 'D' itself.

Mark Paradis closed with a game-high 13 points, John Ingemi canned 9 markers, John Atanasoff 6, and Pete Walsh 4.

Mark Perlowski played excellent defense for the winners.

Scott Noffle pocketed 8 first half points for St. Robert's, Mike Damphousse finished with 6, and Tony Romano arched through two second period baskets.

Ed Damphousse also played well for St. Robert's C.

Scoring Race

The interesting race for individual scoring honors remained tight, with Ted Kelley and Bob Leitch emerging from last Monday's action as co-leaders with 57 points apiece.

A scant hoop behind is Phil Farr with 55, while previous leader Scott Noffle has 52, Bobby French 36, Dave Fluet 34, Mark
Paradis 33, Tony Romano 32,

Steve Green 31 and Tim Corkery
29 points.

Warrior Icemen Drop Pair

By Rick Harrison

Lack of a consistent scoring punch continued to plague the Andover High hockey team during early season action, as the Golden Warriors dropped a pair of recent Merrimack Valley Hockey League starts to Tewksbury (6-1) and Wilmington (4-1).

This inability to find the net is one of very few things Andover has been doing wrong, as the locals are very competitive and definitely no "soft touch" in a strong league that has spawned the State Division 2 schoolboy champion each of the past two winters (Billerica).

The schedule also hasn't favored the Warriors thus far. Among the first four opponents have been tournament contenders Austin Prep, Wilmington and Tewksbury.

Andover has now produced just seven goals in four games, an average slightly under 2.0 per contest, and four of the re-lighters were collected in the triumph over Methuen.

Tewksbury, 6-1

Dennis DeMango opened the Tewksbury scoring at 2:46 of the first period, converting a perfect set-up pass from Alan Dunlevy while the teams were skating 4-on-4.

That's how it stayed until the 9:48 mark, when Jack McMahon completed a 2-on-1 breakaway by tapping a five footer past AHS goalie Dave Hill.

The Warriors struck back at 2:38 of the second period on an unassisted goal by sophomore wing Len Driscoll.

Driscoll stole the puck inside the Redmen zone, moved in alone on goalie Eric Porter, and deposited a 10-foot forehand shot for his first varsity goal.

DeMango got that one back at 11:08, making it 3-1, and Tewksbury wrapped up the attack with three goals during the final stanza.

Fred Carpenito misfired on a shot from the left side of the crease, but the soft backhand dribbled through Hill's pads at 2:43 of the finale.

Sophomore Bob Doughty registered his first goal at 5:08, and McMahon's second of the game capped things at 8:02.

Tewksbury closed with a 26-14 shooting edge, outgunning AHS in every period including 11-3 in the third session.

Hill kicked out 20 shots for the Warriors, while Porter made 13 saves. Chuck Barbour toiled the final 6:58 in net for the Redmen.

The game was also punctuated by 18 minor penalties, 10 of which were whistled against the Shawsheen Road skaters.

Wilmington, 4-1

Andover game Wilmington (3-1-0) more trouble than it cared to face, outshooting the Wildcats 19-12 in the game, but the victors made the most of their limited chances.

AHS almost took a 1-0 lead at the 4:30 mark, when Len Driscoll stole the puck... moved in alone on goalie Paul Crescitelli... but fired just wide of the near post.

Wilmington did take a 1-0 edge at 8:50 on a powerplay goal by Gordie Fitch, as he worked a give-and-go play with Bob Olson from the rearboards.

Less than a minute later Crescitelli robbed center Rick Benson in tight with a pad save.

Junior Center Mike Carlin netted the eventual game-winner at 5:05 of the middle period, misfiring on a shot that slipped under goalie Dave Hill's pads.

Todd Richards upped the count to 3-0 at 7:54, breaking 2-on-1 with Carlin and tipping his perfect set-up feed into an open corner.

Warriors' defenseman John Fahey cut the deficit to 3-1 with 5:43 left in the game, drilling a 55-foot slapshot from the left point through a partial screen and over Crescitelli's right shoulder.

Fahey's second goal of the season came on an Andover powerplay, with Fitch sitting out a cross-checking penalty. Steve Curtis got the assist.

Paul Sullivan got that one back for the Wildcats 46 seconds later, with Carlin again setting it up.

Andover outshot Wilmington in every period, but Crescitelli came up with 18 saves.

Other players who have performed well for Andover thus far are Capt. Joe Pasquale, sophomore center Paul Farnham, scrappy Dan Morreo, hustling Pete Chiklis, Tony Cammarata, blueliner Brian Bresnahan, Paul Derby, Larry Lamagna, Len Foote and rear-guard Kevin Moore.

Pete Chiklis earned the "Wreckless Warrior of the Week" award for a valiant but futile effort to get even with an opposing defenseman in the Wilmington game.

Pete was caught with his head down (it happens to all hockey players from time to time) when a freight train baring the name "Tom Bavota" checked him to the ice during the action.

Pete bounced right up, and started looking for the first chance to square things with the Wildcats' defenseman.

Some time later the opportunity presented itself behind the Wilmington net. It was all nice and legal as Chiklis lined up Bavota for the hit.

Unfortunately, it was the resistable force (in this case, Pete) meeting the immovable object (Bavota).

When the two collided it was Chiklis who had to get up again... mainly because Bavota weighs 225 pounds... but Pete at least let the Wilmington player know he was being thought of.

Andover and Wilmington battle once more on Feb. 2.

Pete Chiklis will skate with his head up, perhaps with a stick of dynamite or a battering ram in one hand.

Bavota beware.

Schedule

Jeff Hubbell was due to make his first start in goal yesterday, when Andover faced tough Chelmsford (2-2-0) after TOWNSMAN presstime.

This Saturday Andover duels winless Lawrence High at 12:30

Ballplayer who stole the most bases in a season was Maury Wills, Los Angeles (NL), 1962, with 104 bases in a 162-game schedule.

Sending radioactive wastes into space (high earth orbit, solar orbit, impact with the sun, and beyond the solar system) is being considered by the Energy Research and Development Administration. More reliable containers would be required for high earth orbit, and greater rocket velocities are necessary for impact with the sun, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Old Faithful.

New Faithful.

Good Old Faithful. Always got you where you were going. Always did it economically. And now, after 27 years and 33 million cars, it's still a symbol of dependability and economy.

Now there's a car that's just as reliable and economical as Old Faithful ever was. It's New Faithful. The 1977 VW Rabbit. With engineering so advanced that automotive experts have hailed it as the kind of car Detroit will be building in the 1980's. The Rabbit has a new fuel injection system, so it starts up quick as a bunny. Springs like one, too. 0 to 50 in just 7.7 seconds. The Rabbit also has advanced engineering features like negative steering roll radius, rack-and-pinion steering, and an independent stabilizer rear axle.

New Faithful lives up to Old Faithful's reputation for economy, too. Because it has fuel injection, you can use the most economical grade of gas. But you won't have to use it very often. Rabbit gets 37 mpg on the highway, 24 in the city (that's EPA's estimate for manual transmission. Actual mileage may vary, depending on driving habits, car's condition and optional equipment).

Dependability and economy. That's what Old Faithful gave a whole generation of Americans. And that's what New Faithful is giving a whole new generation of Americans.

New Faithful. The 1977 VW Rabbit.

Budget

committeemen David Ahouse, Joe Finn and Elaine Viehmann. Those three subsequently passed a preliminary salary account of $8,500,000.

The $10.6 million figure represents an increase of $884,000 over the current year's budget. Some $450,000 of that is in the salary account. Major increases in expenses include $140,000 for plant operations.

New Plant Engineer Al Hart reported that about $50,000 of the plant increase is due to increased costs of fuel and utilities, and the rest, increased maintenance.

He indicated that recent progress in buildings and grounds has been primarily "cosmetic," and that there has been a lot of deterioration of mechanical equipment.

"That's where the emphasis should go," he said.

Hart also noted that the plant operation budget does not include major items which will soon be necessary at East Jr. High, such as new windows and a new heating system. He said school committee may be asked to go to a town meeting for funding for those projects, perhaps as early as next October.

Seifert was joined by Hart, East Jr. High Principal Richard McGrail and West Elementary Principal Eugene Frulla for his overview of instructional programs and plant needs.

In the last five years, he said, the schools have stabilized their portion of the tax rate through fiscal austerity. The other major thrust of recent school committees, basic skills, has been met, he said, by 90 percent of Andover's pupils scoring above the 70th percentile on achievement tests.

However, he offered some "cautions." While achieving a stabilized tax rate and better achievement scores, he said per pupil costs have not kept pace with inflation or with other systems. In 1972-73 the per pupil cost here was $1160. While it rose to $1372 in 1975-76, the inflationary rate would be $1480.

Furthermore, he said, Andover ranked 34th out of 334 systems in the state in per pupil costs in 1972-73, but now ranks in the middle, "somewhere around 160 or 170."

"We have become as flexible as we can without falling apart," Seifert said. "We've gone about as far as we can go."

In his presentation, McGrail recommended that the system go to another kind of external testing. He maintained that current national achievement tests aren't discriminating enough, and claimed that he gets "a whole lot more out of internal tests for a whole lot less effort and fewer dollars."

He also suggested vocational, occupational and interest tests, as well as achievement tests in areas where there are none now. He said current ones test only four of the 14 instructional areas, leaving out music, art, industrial arts, home economics, foreign language and the like.

He also noted the "testophobia," or the negative attitude from pupils that arises from overtesting.

He said standardized testing takes almost a two-week period at the high school. In addition there are mid-year and final exams, college boards and others.

Griggs called over-testing an administrative problem, since school committee policy dictates only that national achievement tests be given, as well as appropriate internal tests.

The discussion also prompted Ahouse to request a list of tests that are administered to youngsters in the system.

Frulla reported on recent progress in instruction areas, such as a career education program, instructional alternatives, the traditional program core and evening programs at the high school, 766 enrichment program, and the like.

However, he said, each has had its costs in the reallocation of personnel.

He recommended a data retrieval system, a K-12 program in occupational, career and consumer education, increased resources in the arts and humanities, a system-wide health program and a more liberal bus program. The school day now, he said, is limited by the buses.

Seifert summed it all up by saying they had practically reached maximum use of personnel, and called for a host of new personnel, including a heating system mechanic, a data processor-instructor, two school adjustment counselors, a psycho-metrician, three elementary art teachers, a public speaking-dramatics teacher, six aides, a practical arts teacher, a math-science teacher, a business teacher and crafts-art teacher for the high school, a math-science teacher and an English-social studies teacher for West Jr. High and an art-industrial arts teacher for East Jr. High.

mitted to the school committee for consideration this week.

Specifications for a new 24-room elementary school in West Andover will be submitted to the School Building Assistance Commission this week for consideration.

Legal questions posed by Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien, delays approval of the contract between the Andover Education Association and the town.

Milton Greenberg, 46 Sagamore Drive, has been named chairman of the Space Planning Advisory Committee for Education. Dr. James J. Conroy will serve as vice chairman.

Service Center Aids Education

The Student Service Center in North Andover is a federally funded project within the Department of Education, organized, staffed, and run by students from schools in Massachusetts. It was started in July, 1971 as a means to involve youth of the Commonwealth in the educational process. The center provides students, teacher administrators, and parents with information they can use to improve education for all. Students are beginning to take a greater role in changing and improving their schools and they find the need to be informed on a wide variety of educational information.

The Northeast Student Service Center answers the request of anyone with a question on educational matters, by referring to their files, or by contacting either by phone or in person, specialists in the area of the request. The center also does special projects on a wide range of issues and topics which concern students. Present the Northeast Center is working on 622 workshops for administrators and students, and is planning new workshops on Student Rights. The work at the Student Service Center is geared to improving communications and interrelations between adults and students.

The staff of the Northeast Student Service Center presently are James Kennedy (Coordinator), of Haverhill High School; Blaine Anderson, of Pen-tucket Regional High and William Cunningham, from Wilmington High.
